Twins Jazz Hosts Funk Masters in Concert!

Put the groove back in your step with two Funk Masters Concerts at DC's favorite listening club. Both concerts are chock full of jazz players with undisputed chops and rhythm.

Check out Greg Boyer who is best known as trombonist for Prince's New Power Generation (NPG) band and a long time member of George Clinton's Parliament/Funkadelic band. With him are coveted drummer Todd Harrison (Jazz Ambassadors and Tom Lagana Group) and incredible bassist Gary Grainger. They'll appear for two nights with other heavy hitting guest players.

On Friday pianist Benjie Porecki and saxophonist Jeff Antoniuk deliver the goods they've brought to gigs from Vegas to the White House and everywhere in between. Porecki has played with local legend Chuck Brown and superstars like Carlos Santana and Chaka Khan. Antoniuk has blown his horn with Ray Charles, Marcus Miller and the late Wayman Tisdale.

On Saturday Jon Ozment takes over the keys. Ozment has toured with The Blackbyrds and Maceo Parker. Guitarist Dan Leonard (Deanna Bogart) will join him at Twins. That's a lot of talent for one stage. (Get tickets early for this one.)

This amazing group of funk masters came together to teach an inDepth Jazz Clinic on "Old School Funk," to be held on Saturday, May 1 at Saint Mark Presbyterian Church 10701 Old Georgetown Road, Rockville, Maryland 20852. Parking is free and convenient.

Shows are at 9:00 PM and 11:00 PM. Concert tickets are $15 in advance and $20 at the door.
